Other comments

The thesis discusses the topic of strategic management in public sector of organizations. The theoretical part is well written based on a considerable number of resources mainly from research studies. It contains theoretical statements of strategic management with focus on strategic management practices in local governments. It is a solid basis for writing practical part of the thesis.

To fulfil the goal of the thesis, the author has done a secondary research based on examples of four countries and five samples from each country. In total it is twenty samples. In chapter 4 analysis is presented. It is not clear where are all mentioned information acquired from. I would recommend providing appropriate links of sources of all information presented.

Methodology and research methods are appropriate. The thesis is all right both in terms of the content and on the practical side. It can be stated that the aim of the work has been fulfilled.

Questions and suggestions for the defence

1. There is stated on page 117 that benchmarking is management tool that all local governments of the monitored municipalities used. Please, state what type of benchmarking exist and what type mentioned municipalities used.
2. Are there any tools that you would recommend implementing even though they are not used by any of monitored company?
